

What to consider when planning your portrait session...

Reagan Photography represents three different styles. When you schedule your session, let us know which images on the website interest you the most. This will help us determine what style will suit your needs. Please visit www.areaganphotography.com

- Fine Art Classic Portraiture: The classic black and white or color with studio, natural or outdoor lighting. Call for your consultation.
- The Artist's Collaborative: Sometimes clients have a special item, or place they want to incorporate into an image. This may take some extra planning, so we will schedule a consultation for you in the studio to discuss your needs.
- Contemporary Media: If you need something different because you are tired of the same old family portrait, or you prefer glam-mag photography, this is probably the option for you. Marketing images also fall into this style of imagery. You will need to schedule a consultation prior to the session.

What we do for you...

- After your session is completed, you will return to the studio within a few weeks to review the images. The images you choose to order will be archived for future reprint orders. You will also be eligible to purchase an Online Gallery of your ordered images for a period 2 weeks for your family and friends to review. This is great for out-of-towners who can't come to the image review. This option is only available after your initial order.
- Any Gallery Wall Portrait 16x20 or larger includes a High Resolution Digital file on Disc for your safe-deposit box. (Invaluable!) You may also purchase digital files of images you order in different sizes for $100 per file. If you come back to me for reprints from your digital file, you receive 50% off your print order!
- When you design your own wall collection valued over $1000, you get 15% off your entire order! Remember to measure your space so you can plan your order ahead of time. If you need help, we also offer portrait design consultations in your home.
- When you have a unique idea for a portrait session, please let us know. If we decide to use your idea for promotional materials, you will receive a complimentary session.
- When you refer a friend and they place an order with us, you automatically receive a $30 print credit!
- Our average client spends between $400 and $900 which usually includes a wall portrait and multiple gift sizes. (reflects 2010 prices)
- We offer a 100% Satisfaction Guarantee.

As the Owner and Artist / Photographer of Reagan Photography, I take a personal interest in my clients needs. I will make every possible effort to ensure your satisfaction. Heirloom portraits are what families cherish for comfort and happiness when their loved ones are away or gone forever. This is how we keep our families close no matter what the circumstance. Because I believe family is the most important thing in life, I cherish the fleeting moments as I record your own family history.
